

THE MACMILLAN CENTER INITIATIVE ON RELIGION, POLITICS, & SOCIETY

SPRING 2014 • RELIGION AND POLITICS COLLOQUIUM

MONDAYS @ 12:00PM • ROOM A001, ISPS, 77 PROSPECT STREET • LUNCH PROVIDED

FEBRUARY 10

LUKE BRETHERTON, Duke Divinity School, Duke University
Re-Imagining the Secular: Inter-Faith Relations as A Civic Practice

FEBRUARY 17

ANDREA VINDIGNI, Political Science, IMT Institute for Advanced Studies Lucca
Forbidden Fruits: The Political Economy of Science, Religion, and Growth
Joint with Leitner Political Economy Seminar Series

MARCH 3

SLAVICA JAKELIC, Institute for Advanced Studies in Culture, University of Virginia
Secularism as A Problem

MARCH 24

RUTH BRAUNSTEIN, Sociology, University of Connecticut
Citizens, Government and God: The Democratic Imagination in Community Organizing and the Tea Party

APRIL 7

CAROLYN WARNER, Political Science, Arizona State University
Religion and Public Goods Provision: Experimental and Interview Evidence from Catholicism and Islam in Europe

APRIL 28

GUILLERMO TREJO, Political Science, University of Notre Dame and
FERNANDO BIZARRO NETO, Kellogg Institute, University of Notre Dame
Religious Competition and the Rise of the Workers' Party in Brazil: Why the Catholic Church Provided the Mass Base for the Democratic World's Largest Leftist Party

GENEROUSLY SPONSORED BY THE EDWARD J. AND DOROTHY CLARKE KEMPF FUND